Halloween Theme! 🎃

Welcome Back to The Tag Times!

Hi people, welcome back! This issue provides an update on the Artemis 1 mission.

Happy Halloween! 🎃

Trick or treat!

This year's Halloween was quite exciting! Firstly, Google made another google doodle which was similar to the one in 2018, but with new ghost designs and achievements to be earned! One of the tag times students got a highest personal score of 472!

Secondly, Firefly park in Clementi organised a Halloween party on the 29th of October. The party consists of many fun games and activities, as well as a best-dress competition with prizes won. There is also a magic show... and here is one of the many magic tricks: The magician placed a container on the table and used one hand to hold a metal opaque jar filled with some water. He poured the water into the container until there's no more coming out (the jar mouth is facing downwards). Then he wanted more water, so he poured more into the jar when the audience said a magic word. This goes on until he has ample water to drink. So that's the magic trick :) Hope you had a nice halloween and enjoy your holidays!! :)

NASA Artemis I has finally launched!

Artemis 1 was launched successfully on the 16th of November, 2022, at 2:04 pm. It is now on a route that will see it flying to the moon and circling it, before heading back to earth. Exciting!
